orts" who would sooner miss a meal than a slashing glove contest were hunned early this morning in a Brooklyn suburb out of witnessing a fight they had travelled miles to see, and incidentally were flim-flammed out of their money. However, there was a smallized riot, and the boys got a little exeltement for their trouble and money. indeed, quite a few found it highly necessary to participate in a little freedodge quickly contest, which proved to be highly interesting.

The fracas happened about 12.30 A. M. just as the fighters were preparing to Several toughs, who either did not have the essential "long-green," as one sport expressed it, or were aware of the fact hat they would be flim-flammed if they paid at the door, endeavored to gain access to the hall through several handy windows from an adjacent building. when several windows in the rear of the hall were suddenly opened and a half hundred or more dead-heads tried to get into the hall all at once.

The proprietor of the place was adverse to admitting them without paying the price of admission, $3, and called several "fixed" deputies, who were present, to aid him. They willingly went to work and gave the intruders a vicious broadside with their clubs.

Many heads were smashed in the first charge, and the toughs retreated to the roof, but the deputies were not satisfied. They followed the men onto the roof, where the real fighting took place. The disturbers made a stand in the dan-erous place in which they were cornered, but only for a moment. Two of the gang were laid out by knocks on the head and the rest concluded to surrender. A laader was procured and all handr were ordered to descend it as quickly at possible.

They obeyed orders, but got their reverge, minute later when they made a viciou attack on the building with bottles and stones of all descriptions, which came crashing through the windows of the hall in a shower. Everybody it, the hall made a dash for cover, while the stone, kept coming through they windows. Several spectators were injured. Johnny Eckhardt had a narrow escape from being struck by a sode-water bottle. The rowdies were fournt off by the deputies and some of the sports, and at last peace was restored.

Then came the film-fism act on the part of the managers of the "fight."

"Gentlemen," squeaked a little fellow with a bunce voice, "there will be a contest her, to-night between Tim Murphy, o. Harlem, and Marry McCue, of Yorkville. McCue got a decision over Murphy and Murphy proposes to get square, so yer can expect a good fight."

The audience was satisfied and

The audience was satisfied and breathed freer than before, though the room was closer than a Turkish bath. They waited and waited, but the fighters failed to materialize. After an hour's delay some one proposed the fight of the state of the state of the same who is reported to be one Time Goldsmith, the alleged backer of Murrhy. He couldn't be manager of the show, who is reported to be one Time Goldsmith, the alleged backer of Murphy. He couldn't be found, and, to quote the words of Fighter McCue, he "flew the coop with the gin." The spectators felt angry that any got buncoed again, and would surely have had revenge on Goldsmith and they found him. McCue is especially indignant and proposes to secure Goldsmith's scalp.

He said he was guaranteed a $300 purse by the latter, but when it came down to bustness Goldsmith only offered him about $50 to meet Murphy.

TO ARREST COL. STORY. Warrant Out for the State Camp's

Ordnnace Officer. STATE CAMP, PEEKSKILL, July 3

-A warrant for the arrest of Col. Joseph B. Story, the ordinance officer here, was issued last evening by Justice Lynch, of Centreville, on the complaint of James Owens, of Peekskill, who for the past three years has acted as a police officer at the camp.

Owens, who is a veteran of the late war, received a reappointment as policeman this season, and reported for duty on June 15. Four days later he was ordered to report to Col. Story.

That officer informed him that he had orders to lay off two men, and that he had picked out Owens and a companion lamed Acker, a civillan. Owens asked if there were any charges against him. He was informed there was nothing against him as an officer or otherwise. His request to be reinstated was refused. of James Owens, of Peekskill, who for His request to be reinstated was refused.

Owens then applied through his attorney, Silas B. Owens, of Peekskill, for reinstatement, and received a reply from Col. Story that as the latter was only a subordinate he could do nothing. Owens then applied for a warrant.

The statutes of the State of New York make the discharge of a veteran without charges a misdemeanor.

The only observance of the Fourth of July at the camp will be the firing of the National salute to-morrow. The men will do their regular routine duty as usual. Many visitors are expected to the camp to-morrow.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

The Coney Island Jockey Club Intends investigating the accident which oc-curred in the sixth race yesterday, and in which Dorsey had a narrow escape from being killed. The action of the C. I. J. C. is tardy. Reckless riding has been going on since the meeting began and it is a matter of wonder that no one has yet been killed as a result of it. In the matter of last night's race, Garrison charged that Sims was directly responsible for the throwing of Uncle lim. Garrison says Sims crowded Top-Then the Manager Disappears with gailant so that Uncle Jim was forced on the rail. The charges should be carefully investigated and the jockey responsible for the fall punished.

Green B. Morris, a clever judge of a horse, offered "Lucky" Baldwin $5,000 for Rey El Santa Anita's chances in the Itealization. From this it must be inferred that Rey El Santa Anita is something of a horse.

Sheepshead Bay is maintaining its reputation for in and out running. More races of this kind are run at the track than any other in the country, and the stewards betray a blind indifference to reversals of form. Libertine's startling improvement surprised everybody but the stewards. the stewards.

Logan dumped the talent, no one supposing that he had a chance to win after his miserable performance of a few days ago. One understands, of course, that horses are not pleces of machinery, which will work in the same groove day after day, but there are other reasons than these for the reversals of public form which are daily taking place. A prominent turf writer observes that the stewards probably do not remember how horses performed in previous races. Probably not. One thing, however, is never forgotten. That is the trip to the clubhouse between races. Judge Joseph J. Burke always kept accurate records of the performances of horses before him, and if any startling reversals of form were noted, he wanted to know the cause. By this means Judge Burke obtained the high reputation he now bears. Stewards of race courses should be the closest students of public form.

A despatch from Sacramento, Cal., says the great race horse Maxim, who was sired by Musket, considered the best horse which New Zealand ever produced, died yesterday on the Rancho Del Paso, Maxim was taken to Callfornia from New Zealand five or six years ago by John Mackey, J. B. Haggin afterwards paid $21,000 for him. The horse was recently thrown in his stall, and the shock resulted in his death.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

"I am an ardent admirer of racing, spending nearly all my vacation at the track, and willingly giving the greater part of my income to swell the pockets of the Jockey Club officials and book makers rather than forsake this sport of kings, but since the rank and dishonest decision given by the judges on last Saturday. I have decided to remain away from race tracks, or, at least, those tracks where I know they have incompetent and unfair officials.

"I have reference to the fifth race on Saturday, where Dorian got third place by half a length, but the third place was given to Redskin, the fourth horse, Perhaps the judges were so ratified by the dead-heat run by Ramapo and Banquet that they knew nothing about the third horse, and gave it to Redskin on a guess, and then, again, perhaps they had interests of their own to serve in giving it to Redskin. It would be a good thing for the sport-loving public if the C. I. J. Club selected judges who would not get ratified at a dead-heat, or who had interests of their own to serve in placing the horses. The following letter is self-explana-

In the twelfth annual championship race meet of the Canadian Wheelmer at Montreal, yesterday, John S. Johnson picked up a few easy things open to class B riders. He won the mile handleap from scratch in 2.24, the three mile in 7.302-5, and rode a half, paced by Callahan, of Buffalo, in 1.652-5. Necords were broken at the meet. The Giants are now holding strongly to sixth place, with the critipied Philines leading toem by only six points in fifth place. Ward's men should do no worse than lose one of the two games scheduled for the holiday in Cleveland tomorrow. They rest to-day. After Cleveland will follow the games in Louisville, and it isn't too much to expect that our boys will take two of the three games. Should this programme run through without a break, New York will finish the week with her percentage close to 600, and that should insure her a position among the first four clubs.

The correspondent of the London Telegraph at Glasgow, detailing the special prizes which have been offered by Scotch Clubs for races in the hope that the owners of Vigilant would be induced to enter, says; "There is considerable disappointment at the announcement that Vigilant will not compete in any race until the 7th instant. The clubs, in offering these prizes, were influenced by the hope that a series of tratches over different courses would afford a good test of the respective merits of yachts of American and Clyde designs for all-around-racing purposes."

It is really too bad that an American yacht should not be compelled to race before she is fairly in trim and with her crew entirely unaccustomed to the strange courses. Through the defeat of Pittsburg by Boston yesterday, Brooklyn jumped up to third place again, although the "Sootburg Students" are after them hammer and tongs, with out eight points difference to overcome. The Grooms will play strange courses. Arrangements for the monster benefit to poor Charley Hennett, the Boston's ex-catcher, who lost both legs in a railway accident, are going on capitally. The first attempt was made on the Jersey side, just above Weehawken. The drill was set to work, and at the end of an hour had only getten down seven inches into the bottom, which, it was discovered, is of rock.

The drill be composed of a hollow piece of wrought steel, at the base of which are four small holes. The base is formed into an interrupted screw and attached to ac loss-fitting water-pape, about an inch and a half in diameter. This leads to a force pump on the barge. Water is forced through the pipe into the drill, thus softening the rock.

At the end of an hour the drill was taken up and a sample of the rock taken out. It is intended to drill to a depth of fifteen or twenty feet.
